

Bright Spot Leadership Council

At Bright Spot Network we understand that cancer is a trauma that impacts the health, wellbeing and economic security of the whole family.

With rates of cancer on the rise among young adults ages 20-49, Bright Spot Network fills a crucial resource gap, as the only national non-profit solely focused on supporting parents of young children as they navigate the unimaginable task of parenting with cancer.

What we do:

Support and Care	Community Building	Public Leadership
 Provide resources for parents with young kids who are navigating their own cancer diagnosis and treatment. Programs Virtual Support Groups Barrier-Free Grants Free Books Program Online Parenting Resources	 Bring together parents and families to support their well-being and establish healing connections. Programs Virtual Wellness Groups Regional "Playdates" Family Retreats	 Build awareness about the emotional and economic needs of families in which a parent has cancer. Programs Parent Advisory Board Strategic Partnerships and Network Building Writing Workshops

As a new non-profit, we are at a critical growth moment and are building a core team of supporters who will help us to actualize our mission. We have an ambitious goal of raising 100K.

Thank you so very much! I just received your wonderful gift in the mail today and it will help our family so very much. It is so deeply appreciated and makes the financial burden we are experiencing a little bit easier. Sending much thanks and gratitude.

I'm truly blown away by your response... I can't tell you how thankful I am for these resources and certainly was not expecting more than one! Again, I just wanted to say thank you for making this part of my cancer journey a little less stressful.
